

Test-set experiment comparison: quality index

Higher is better; model selection used validation, reporting uses the held-out test split.

